

Clevor Schedule Optimizer for Accounting Firms

Their scheduling needs

Accounting firms undertake multiple assignments, each with a given scope of work, a start and a desired completion date. Each of these assignments consists of a number of interrelated tasks and each of these tasks requires staff with the appropriate skills to carry them out.

The importance of scheduling is well understood. David Maister, (in his book, 'Managing the Professional Service Firm') says, "The scheduling of work assignments is the single most important managerial activity in a professional service firm. . . . By allocating the right resources to different assignments, there is the opportunity to influence the cost of the work, its quality and the timeliness of its delivery". He goes on to point out that scheduling has longer-term consequences as well impacting on professional development and satisfaction of the professionals and their motivation and productivity.

Clevor Schedule Optimizer delivers on all these needs and more. These software tools use Clevor's own proprietary, patent-pending high performance schedule optimization engine. It is fully automatic, making the scheduling process very efficient. Clevor Schedule Optimizer represents a real breakthrough in scheduling of work in accounting firms.
